

Dear Dr. Salesky and staff,

I certainly intended to write this letter sooner, but my life like everyone else's is in the fast lane.

I wasn't actively searching for a dentist when I saw your ad in our local paper. "Looking for a caring dentist?" I called the office right away and said "yes, I'm looking for a caring dentist". The receptionist chuckled and I knew I was connected to the right place.

Upon meeting you, I was instantly impressed with your gentleness, kindness and your ability to look me directly in my eyes the whole time you talked to me. That is how I judge whether I can trust a person or not. And I knew then I could trust you.

I was amazed by the painless, drill less dentistry you preformed on me that day. I mentioned to you on this visit, that the appearance; length of one of my front teeth wasn't appealing to me. You changed all that for me in the SAME visit and I went away extremely happy.

An added bonus was that not only are you a "caring" dentist, you have a caring staff also. I have never met a nicer group of people in one medical office. Everyone was so personable and kind.

This is the first time in years I visited a dentist and didn't "hand wring" the entire time. AND the first time I have actually looked forward to the next visit.

I thank you and your staff very much for making my appointment so pleasant.

Happy holidays to all of you.

Sincerely,

Sheryl
