Dear Dr. Reisman and staff,

A couple of weeks ago, our two-year-old son, Ryon, took a tumble down the stairs at our house. He had some teeth that were pushed up into his gums and was bleeding. We immediately called your office on that Saturday morning. Without hesitation, you had us come down for Ryon to be viewed immediately. Although there were people waiting in the waiting room, you took us right away and your staff was very polite and willing to help us through this traumatic morning.

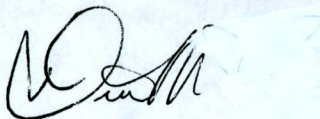

Dr. Reisman was so patient with Ryon and so caring. It was almost as if he was treating his own son. Even after you examined him and gave him X-rays, you followed up in a couple of days to see how he was doing. You even recommended a specialist (oral surgeon) that we could take him to for further examination. Even after that meeting with the specialist you called to check in on how he was making out.

It is such a pleasure to have someone as yourself (and your staff) who is so dedicated to your profession and has the care and compassion for your patients. So much of that customer service and care that you give is missing in today's world. Congratulations on a job well done! Thank you and your staff for giving us so much attention and care with our most prized possessions, our children.

Sincerely,

Christopher M. Lee
